Texas A&M University is dedicated to honoring the requirements set forth in Title IX of the Education Amendments Act of 1972 which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex, including pregnancy, in educational programs and activities. This brochure is designed to provide basic information related to the resources that are available to pregnant and parenting students at Texas A&M University.

Students are encouraged to reach out to the offices listed on the back of this brochure for personalized assistance in accessing university resources. For more in depth information regarding pregnant and parenting student rights and resources, visit http://studentlife.tamu.edu/wrc.pregnantandparenting
Staff at Student Assistance Services and the Women’s Resource Center are able to help you find answers to questions related to:

- your classes i.e. grading, absences, internships, career rotations, or outside class requirements
- accommodations i.e. larger desks, access to elevators, access to lactation rooms
- working with faculty to ensure your right to access labs related to your area of study
- your on-campus employment as a graduate or undergraduate student
- conflicts with university faculty, staff, or students related to your pregnancy
- the effect of leave and withdrawal decisions on student financial aid
