Renters Insurance

Provides “named peril” coverage which includes, but is not limited to:
• Fire
• Smoke
• Lightening
• Hail
• Windstorm
• Theft
• Vandalism
• Accidental Discharge of Water

Typically provides liability protection, which covers damages that result from bodily injury or property damages to another person.

Why You Need Insurance

• Landlords policy will not cover your personal property
• It is inexpensive
• You are a owner of clothes, computer, stereo, furniture, etc.
• When living in close proximity to other tenants, you share risk of damage
• Renters Insurance provides liability protection

Local Agents

• All State Insurance - $80/year
• Anco Insurance - $150/year
• Farmers Insurance - $250/year
• Germania Insurance - $150/year
• Nationwide Insurance - $150/year
• State Farm Insurance - $191/year

*The above prices are the average cost on a standard 12 month policy with coverage of $25,000.

*Actual prices will depend on the type of structure you are living in, if you have a current policy with the insurance company, and the amount of coverage you select.
